MILLHIMES IS HELD FOR TRIAL AFTER HEARING

Ray Millhimes, 21, Gettysburg R. 2, was held for court Friday afternoon following a hearing before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder on a charge of burglary and larceny.

Millhimes is one of two young men accused by borough police of burglarizing the Gettysburg Laundry Center early Wednesday morning. Larry Miller, 18, of 126 W. High St., nabbed by Borough Officer Russell L. Potter Jr. after a chase from the laundry, has entered a plea of guilty to the charge. Borough police allege that Millhimes was the other man in the laundry with Miller.

Both Officer Potter and Officer Raymond Menges were positive they saw Millhimes with Miller as they drove up to the laundry center Wednesday morning. The two, they testified, were standing at the coin changing devices at the front of the laundry. The front of the laundry is mostly a plate glass window. Lights illuminate both the interior and exterior of the establishment which is open 24 hours a day. Menges said he has known Millhimes for five years, "ever since he learned to drive." Potter said he has known Millhimes three years. Both said they were within 25 feet of the two men when the men looked out the laundry window at the approaching police car and saw the officers. As a result, said the police, they had a full-face view of both men.

Immediately after they saw the police the two men ran to the rear of the laundry. Since the "back" door was locked the two ran through the plate glass door breaking it. In the chase Miller was caught near the Direct-To-You service station on (Continued On Page 6)

CANCER UNIT'S ACTIVITIES UP IN 16 YEARS

The Adams County unit of the American Cancer Society will be 16 years old next month and as it approaches its anniversary it is engaged in a fund campaign for $11,500, 50 times the amount it raised in the county in its first year.

On May 19, 1948, John A. Hauser of Biglerville became the county unit's first president and that year the county group raised $229.65. Of that total $6.48 was contributed to Gettysburg's Junior baseball team of that day.

This year's fund drive for $11,500 will see 45 per cent of the total remaining in the county for projects of the county unit. The remainder will go to the national society, chiefly for research in the fight against cancer.

36 ON BOARD
Now there is an executive board of 36 consisting of 12 medical directors and 24 laymen. Current officers are Dr. W. North Sterrett, president; Dr. J. L. Boyer, vice president; Robert S. Weikert, treasurer, and Mrs. Guyon E. Buehler, secretary.

Two salaried helpers direct the unit's extensive operations. Mrs. Henrietta Blocher, the executive secretary, is on duty two days a week in the society's office. Room 21, in the basement of Warner Hospital, and Mrs. Janie Lighter, who is secretary of the tumor clinic, works Tuesday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. "No one needs to suffer from lack of money or help in fighting cancer's inroads, for many free services are available," President Sterrett said. "On the recommendation of the family physician, nursing service can be provided, medication, or transportation where it is needed. There is a loan closet packed with rubber sheets, bedside commodes, bedpans, wheel chairs and other sickroom supplies. (Continued On Page 2)

Local Youth Fails To Attend Hearing

Failure of a Gettysburg youth to appear as a witness for the commonwealth Friday forced the state Liquor Control Board to continue a citation hearing against the Midway Tavern, Hanover.

The tavern owner, Harry D. Weaver, has been charged by the board with making sales to minors.

Attorney Richard P. Noll, York, who represented Weaver, said the case was continued after the youth failed to respond to a subpoena from the board. No new hearing date was set.

6 DRIVERS AT KNOUSE FOODS ARE HONORED

Six persons employed by Knouse Foods, Inc., of Peach Glen, were honored by the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association Casualty Insurance Company for perfect driving records at a safety meeting in the canning firm's offices today. Each winning driver received the "PMA Safe Driver Award" given by the insurance concern. R. H. Hunter, PMA fleet safety engineer, presented the awards.

Knouse officials witnessing the ceremonies included M. E. Knouse, president; Dean Carey, general manager; E. J. Nowicki, production manager; Marcus Ritter, plant superintendent; and Lawson Wright, assistant secretary. Other representatives of Knouse Foods present were Paul Ritter, personnel manager; Ira Kerr, fleet manager; Arthur Henry, traffic manager; Raymond Hoffman, fleet supervisor; and Bill Horner, assistant traffic manager. The "PMA Silver Award" was received by Joseph Reaver for nine years of highway driving without a mishap while Albert Warner won the silver award for an eight-year record. John Rinehart received a similar award for seven years of perfect driving. Winning the "PMA Bronze Award" for a three-year record was Earl Rhoads.

In commenting on the awards Hunter observed that the honored drivers had averaged about 55,000 miles in 1963 while hauling Knouse products throughout the northeastern section of our country. He praised the Knouse officials and drivers for their outstanding team work which made the enviable safety records possible.

Special discussion on cherry production and completion of plans for Apple Blossom Sunday are scheduled for the meeting of the Adams County Fruit Growers Association Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the Biglerville High School.

John Baugher, Aspers, secretary of the fruit growers, in his notice to the members, said there "are a number of important items of business to be discussed including the final plans for Apple Blossom Sunday." Blossom Sunday will be held May 3.

"Factors to Consider for Profitable Cherry Production" and "Adams County's Future in the Cherry Industry" will be two of the subjects for the special discussion on cherries. Leaders for the discussion have been announced as Mac Lott, Gardners R. 1; Thomas Oyer, Gettysburg R. 3; and Glenn Slaybaugh Jr., Biglerville R. 2.

New Link To Memento Of World War I

After 47 years Donald MacPhail, 50 South St., may learn something about a man he met in France in 1918.

This week students of Jacob M. Sheads at Gettysburg High School were studying about World War I. Professor Sheads invited MacPhail, a World War I veteran who won the Silver Star while fighting in France, to talk to the students about his experiences.

Among other mementoes shown by MacPhail was a "dog tag" he had secured from a German prisoner 47 years ago. Printed in German it meant nothing to MacPhail.

But Barbel Lerche, young German Exchange student at Gettysburg High School, read the inscription on the metal tag with much interest. It showed the German had resided within a few miles of her home.

She promised to write home concerning the man listed on the "dog tag," with the hope that she may learn for MacPhail what happened to the man he met briefly in France nearly a half century ago.

Dignitaries, Comrades Bow In Benediction At Burial Of Old Soldier

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — With measured cannon fire and the sad notes of Taps, the nation sent its old soldier, Douglas MacArthur, to his earthly peace today.

It was a moving ceremony—one of massed flags dipping in waves, of stirring band music, and of quiet prayers and the sadness of the 84-year-old general of the Army's widow, Jean, and son, Arthur, 26.

The Stars and Stripes were removed from MacArthur's steel casket before he was to be lowered into his tomb in a crypt in the MacArthur Memorial in his old Navy town where his mother was born.

And thus, the five-star general and hero of three wars who died Sunday—fading away as he once eloquently predicted—was laid to rest.

There were dignitaries and old comrades on hand, their heads bowed as the benediction was read at the crypt after church services at St. Paul Episcopal Church two blocks away.

Representing President Johnson, who paid his respects to MacArthur in earlier ceremonies in Washington, was Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, who less than five months ago saw his brother, President John F. Kennedy, buried with similar honors.

LOWER COLORS
Before the entombment, MacArthur's body was carried to the church for Episcopal funeral services.

As the horse-drawn caisson slowly rolled past, ranks of troops lowered the bright colorful flags of all the states and territories and of the 26 Army units MacArthur had been associated with in a half-century of war and peace.

After the half-hour service, with Mrs. MacArthur and her son in the front pew, the cortege retraced its slow way back to the memorial building.

American Convicted By Cuban Military Court Of Working For The CIA

By DANIEL HARKER
HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — The Castro government has demanded a 30-year prison sentence for an American convicted by a Cuban military tribunal of working for the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

The prosecution first asked for the death penalty for Frank Carl Emmick, a former president of Havana's American Club, and six Cubans allegedly hired by him to spy, but then suggested the same prison term for all.

TRIED THURSDAY
The trial took place Thursday and was disclosed Friday by the Swiss Embassy, which represents U.S. interests in Cuba. Sentencing is expected shortly.

Emmick, 49, who comes from Rossford, Ohio, arrived in Cuba in 1959 intending to sell tractors. Later, he went into the frog legs business.

When Emmick was arrested Dec. 12, he was president of the

SAYS "ROOTS GO DEEP AT GETTYSBURG"

Former President Eisenhower is quoted as saying of Gettysburg "The sense of history is here. With you all the time," in an article appearing in the current edition of The New Yorker magazine.

Philip Hamburger, author of the article, describing a visit to Eisenhower's office here, records the former President as telling him: "The Gettysburg roots go deep."

That picture over there on the wall, that's my West Point class of 1915, taken right here in Gettysburg on May 3, 1915. We visited here for three days, poured over every inch of the battlefield. . . . The battlefield fascinated me. I suppose I must have read 30, 40 books on the subject. . . . I still read everything I can lay my hands on about the battle.

GIVE FORMAL OK TO COUNTY 1964 BUDGET

The Adams County commissioners Friday afternoon formally adopted the $1,077,085 budget to which they had given tentative approval March 17.

There were no changes from their original budget which calls for expenditure of $774,160 for the county's operation during the year. The other approximately $300,000 involves money that will be borrowed to meet operations until tax income arrives, and will be paid back at that time. The county is currently in debt and thus does not have enough funds to operate until the new taxes are received late in the summer.

Commissioners Clerk M. Hardy Nichols reported that during the period the budget was on display at the courthouse "only one person looked through it."

CD MATTERS UP

J. E. Wells of the engineering firm of Wells and Wells reported to the commissioners that work on the approaches to two bridges started last fall is "moving along well." Winter weather prevented completion of the approaches after the bridges were constructed.

County Civil Defense Director William G. Weaver recommended that the commissioners continue the Civil Defense program in the county as it has been conducted in the past, explaining that the county has received "the most Civil Defense at the least expense." Commenting on allegations of state CD officials concerning improvements needed in Civil Defense in the county, Weaver said the most important "lack" is a fallout shelter for the Quick Call center which could serve as the CD staff center during time of need, will be overcome when Gettysburg adds to its present fire house.

He reviewed the organizational setup of the county's Civil Defense and noted that the county had been able to meet every demand on it so far for CD, including "getting 50 cots for the college at 3 o'clock in the morning when there was an epidemic there." He described the various equipment Civil Defense has obtained at "very small cost" under army surplus purchases including a large number of cots now stored at the old county home.

111 CHILDREN UNDER CARE

Adams County now has 111 children under Child Welfare care, according to the report of Miss Dorothy Curtis, director of Child Welfare services, to the commissioners Friday. As of the beginning of the year there were 102 children under care.

THIRD CLASS SCHOOLS WILL GET $736,000

Payments totaling more than $736,000 are being made by the state to three third-class school districts in Adams County, according to an announcement from the office of County Superintendent of Schools M. Francis Coulson.

That total includes more than $80,000 paid to the three districts as a supplemental payment for being in merged districts.

Gettysburg Area Merged District gets a supplemental payment of $18,973.53 and that extra sum helped make it possible for the school board this week to plan a five-mill tax cut.

Upper Adams Merged District will get a supplemental payment of $35,107.34 and that sum has helped that district to avert a tax increase for next year. The New Oxford Area Merged District will get $26,463.13 in supplemental funds. It has not yet acted on its budget and tax rate for next year.

$162,999 TO GETTYSBURG

The supplemental payments to the three merged districts total $80,542.90.

The regular second semiannual payments to the same districts on the basis of teaching units and tuition units, less deductions for teacher certification penalties, county-operated special class transportation, children enrolled in state schools for the deaf, blind and cerebral palsied and for county office additional salaries, total $655,800.58.

The district totals are: Gettysburg Area Merged, $162,999.97; New Oxford Area Merged, $211,514.26; and Upper Adams Merged, $358,336.35. The first installment of the annual tuition payments was made last fall. Fourth-class districts received the second payment of their annual reimbursement from the state last month.

BORDER ISSUE NOT SETTLED

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—A five-day effort by India and Pakistan to negotiate their way out of a tense confrontation on their common frontier ended today in an impasse.

Informed sources said the home ministers of both nations in long talks agreed only on one substantial point—that another conference should be held, this time in Pakistan later this month.

There were fresh reports, meanwhile, of border clashes between Pakistani and Indian forces in the disputed state of Kashmir. India's Defense Ministry reported a two-hour fire-fight in which two Indians were wounded.

After years of quarreling over Kashmir, Pakistan and India were prodded to the conference table by the fear that such skirmishing and the mass movements of refugees over the border would explode into a major conflict.

CANCER UNIT'S

URGE TIMELY ACTION "Some years ago, the Littlestown State Bank donated three large steel lockers that are stuffed with flannel nightgowns, sheets, bandages and surgical dressings of all sizes and shapes. Local motels often donate their worn sheets; civic and church groups make up pads and dressing with cellulose provided by the unit to whatever size the doctor orders.

"The unit is striving this year more than ever to create and sustain a public attitude toward cancer that will make people go to their doctors for proper treatment before it is too late. Films, speakers and literature are available to schools or groups.

NAMES INSCRIBED "One unique service in which the Adams County unit takes understandable pride is the tumor clinic, a follow-up service where patients are periodically rechecked for the progress of their disease. The county unit is one of 1,121 counties in the United States taking part in a cancer prevention study.

"In the office there is a beautiful leather book inscribed with the names of countians who have died from cancer. Friends or relatives donate money to the work of the society, and the name of the deceased is hand-lettered in the book. There are 92 names in the book now. The first one is Mrs. Mary Ryman, R. D., Aspers, 1955.

"Dial Mrs. Blocher at 394-5382 or 334-2121 for your question relating to cancer. She will understand the problem and lead to the answer."

Today In Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

U.S.-BRAZIL: U.S. officials won't comment publicly on the situation in Brazil. Privately, they expressed concern over the Brazilian military's departure from constitutional procedures.

On Thursday night, the military leaders who ousted President Joao Goulart last week by-passed Congress and issued a so-called "institutional act" which suspended political rights and revoked mandates of federal, state and municipal legislators without recourse to courts.

On April 2, President Johnson sent acting Brazilian President Paschoal Ranieri Mazzilli a message saying the United States noted Brazil's difficulties and "admired the resolute will of the Brazilian community to resolve these difficulties within the framework of constitutional democracy and without civil strife."

But developments since then have disturbed U.S. officials.

On Friday, State Department press officer Richard I. Phillips said the United States had conveyed concern to Brazil over the imposition of press censorship.

FEIGHAN - PAYOFFS: Rumors and reports of "large payoffs running into hundreds of thousands of dollars to fix immigration cases through private bills" were described to the House Friday by Rep. Michael A. Feighan, D-Ohio.

Some of the reports of "big-money fees for fixing immigration cases," he added, hint that "the money is said to have gone to some firms in which a congressman or senator was a law partner."

A private bill is one passed to assist a single individual.

REDEYE: The Army has awarded a contract for production of a bazooka-like guided missile with which it says an infantryman can shoot down low-flying jets.

Called the Redeye, the missile is designed so its warhead seeks out targets by homing in on the heat generated by their motors. Called the world's smallest guided missile, the Redeye weighs less than 30 pounds.

General Dynamics - Pomona, Pomona, Calif., received the $13,222,358 contract for production and engineering work on the Redeye. It will be used by the Army and the Marine Corps.

PHILOSOPHY OF EDUCATION FOR BERMODIAN HIGH

Members of the faculty and staff of the Bermudian High School set their philosophy of education and their teaching objectives on paper for the school's first formal evaluation, which was completed Friday. The evaluation was conducted by a team of visiting educators for the commission on secondary schools of the Middle States Association.

The school's statement of its philosophy, which was submitted to the evaluating team, follows in full with a list of eight school objectives:

We believe that the education of our young people is the basic foundation on which we build a stronger America and a better world.

We believe that education is a continuous process, but we realize that in our locale many students reach the terminus of their formal education on or before high school graduation. Therefore, we believe our primary obligation is to that of providing education for every youth, commensurate with his abilities, thus giving each child an opportunity to find his place in life.

TRAIN IN CITIZENSHIP

By co-operative effort of the faculty, the administration and the board of education, our curriculum undergoes continuous study and revision so that we may have a broad and flexible program to take care of individual differences. We feel that we must meet the differing needs by providing guidance counseling and using varying methods of instruction made possible by grouping.

In co-operation with the home and the church we believe that it is our duty to train our youth to accept responsibility in citizenship and that the education of all, regardless of race or creed, is the due to international understanding. We believe that this training may be accomplished in part by providing students with actual school experiences in self-government such as the student council, club organizations and club activities.

Furthermore, we believe in teaching children the proper use of leisure time by providing an opportunity for club activities and classes in the fine and practical arts. We feel that the majority of the clubs should be an outgrowth of classroom work and that the result be a continuing interest in the arts.

MORAL VALUES TOO

We also accept the responsibility of developing our youth's health and promote an interest in physical fitness by offering a well-rounded physical education program to all children.

We believe that the school, in co-operation with the home and the community, should emphasize moral and spiritual values in the training of our youth.

We believe in a curriculum which utilizes methods of teaching such as lecture, discussion, audio-visual aids and individual projects in subject matter. Not so subject-centered, however, that we as educators can't help them to pursue facts they want to know and sharpen skills they want to master. Even more important, we should be concerned about the basic attitudes of the children we teach.

We believe that student promotion should depend on academic and social factors and the professional judgment of the teacher.

We know that our young people are tomorrow's American and world citizens and a great part of the responsibility to prepare them for this role belongs to the school.

OBJECTIVES

To broaden the curriculum so that the differences in intellectual receptivity can be met and each child achieve his or her capacity.

To arouse interest and stimulate thinking on local, national and world problems, in the light of their backgrounds, emphasizing that their generation will be responsible for possible solutions to these problems.

To stress the importance of physical as well as mental exercise by having a balanced program in each.

To encourage educational pursuits in all fields of study and to be aware of a changing society and a changing world.

LEARNING PROCESS

To help students to evaluate themselves and by so doing realize their own potentialities.

To assist the pupil to recognize and accept responsibility and become aware of the traits of leadership and the ability to follow.

To develop a sense of moral and cultural values and to realize these values are directly dependent upon the basic family unit.

To train them for world citizenship, broad-minded enough to realize the lessons, without prejudice, but courageous enough to stand up for their convictions.

Young Pianist And Composer Lured To Gettysburg Through Classified Advertisement In Literary Magazine

Fred Coulter, concert pianist now residing in Twin Oaks, takes time from preparing for his next concert tour to relax with his wife, Xenia, and two children, Valerie, two, and Freddie, almost six. The children insisted upon bringing their French cat "Pott Ami" (Little Friend), along to America—making him the only feline in town with an accent. (Times photo)

One of Gettysburg's newest residents is an American musician who is known throughout Europe as one of the century's most outstanding pianists and composers.

Fred Coulter's Gettysburg address is somewhat of an accident—the result of a "House for Rent" advertisement Dr. Robert Bloom placed in a literary magazine last winter after he had been granted a sabbatical leave from Gettysburg College. The Coulters, who were residing in LePecq, France, read the ad and, inasmuch as they were slated to return to the U. S. this spring for his second American concert tour, they agreed that Gettysburg was a convenient temporary location.

The 29-year-old pianist returned last month to the American concert stage to continue playing college series throughout the country. He played the first of several concerts he will perform in 1964 last weekend at William and Mary College, Williamsburg, following a concert the night before in the Phillips Gallery, Washington, D. C. The tour took him to several southern college campuses, including the Medical College of Georgia at Atlanta. He will appear April 20 at Hunter College and four days later will attend the annual spring festival at Ann Arbor, Mich.

HAVE TWO CHILDREN

Fred Coulter and his wife, Xenia, met at the University of Michigan where both were studying music. Fred had been associated with the university's music department for many years, having first enrolled as a special student at the age of 11 to study advanced composition. Xenia transferred from piano to music theory in order that she could graduate early and marry Fred. She now is one of his best critics, as well as his manager-secretary and the mother of their two small children.

The children have found at Gettysburg an entirely new world. Freddie, who will be six in June, was born in New York shortly before his parents went to Europe. His sister, Valerie, was born in Paris less than three years ago. Valerie speaks only French. Freddie says, "I am learning to speak English very well." He attends kindergarten at Cashdown where he is learning to play American games and is becoming acquainted with American children.

So far he is quite happy, despite the fact that he already has three years of schooling to his credit.

EARLY SCHOOLING

"French children start to school as soon as they're out of diapers," his father explains. Freddie was doing arithmetic when the family left France in February, and he has been reading and writing for at least a year. However, since he was less than six years old when he arrived in Pennsylvania, he is unable to begin school until next September.

Valerie, at the age of two, also was in school in France and she is greatly distressed that she must stay at home with her mother. However, her days are not a total loss, for she is learning to speak English with a friend of the family, Miss Nicole Regis, 23-year-old daughter of the mayor of Le Pecq, who accompanied the Coulters to Gettysburg and will return to her home in France in June.

FIRST LESSON AT 12

Fred Coulter was 12 years old when he took his first piano lesson. By the time he was a sophomore in high school he was teaching piano in Boush, Mich., a small town near the Traverse City fruit belt, where he played variety basketball and was captain of the Boush High School tennis team. He spent his summers at the Interlochen, Mich., National Music Camp from 1946-51, when he joined the staff as a composer. He remained on the camp staff until he graduated from high school and entered the

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN IN 1954

He was graduated from the University with bachelor degrees in both piano and composition and a master's degree in piano. He was a Phi Beta Kappa student and won the Olean E. Scott award for "a distinguished record in the field of humanities." He was a straight A student except for a C in ROTC.

FATHER A MUSICIAN

The young artist was composing music long before he was playing it. At the age of five, after he had heard a Paul Whiteman concert in Indianapolis, he played from memory "The Grand Canyon Suite" which Whiteman had performed. His father was a close friend of Whiteman and worked his way through Chicago University and Washburn College by playing saxophone and clarinet with jazz leaders Bix Beiderbecke and Hoagy Carmichael. The young pianist remembers meeting Carmichael and Duke Ellington a number of times.

At the age of 18 Fred Coulter was commissioned to write an opera for the Interlochen Camp Band and a few years later his ballet "There Is a Season" was performed during an international tour by the Munt-Brooke Troupe of New York.

Upon graduation from college, he decided to concentrate on the piano and moved to New York where he studied at the Juilliard School of Music under Adele Marcus for two years before moving to Paris.

FINE COMPOSER

The young American is acclaimed one of the most brilliant modern composers and pianists in the world today. He received standing ovations in his 1962 debut in Germany and has given concerts in Paris, Hamburg, Brussels, London and Vienna, as well as in many of the smaller towns in Europe. He presented a recital in New York City's Town Hall in October, 1962.

PROFESSIONAL CAREER?

"Because it is much easier for an artist to become recognized there than in America," Coulter says. "Every little town has its own opera house and it is filled for every performance. There are so many places to play and the audiences are large and tremendously responsive." He explains that concerts are scheduled purposely so that the working man may stop at the local opera house on his way home from work to enjoy a concert.

LIKES COLLEGES

Why does he prefer playing before college groups?

"Because the programs can be varied to include the works of a number of different composers, while the conventional tour demands that the artist perform the same program over and over for the entire season. College concerts request the works of different composers, and this is inspiring and interesting to the artist. He does not become bored." Coulter's repertoire includes the works of 17th century to 20th century composers ranging from Scarlatti, Beethoven, Debussy and Schumann to Schoenberg and Stravinsky. His interpretations have been acclaimed by critics as "exceptionally sensitive; introspective, lyrical and sonorous."

TO TOUR EUROPEAN

Coulter will spend two weeks in June as a lecturer at a Ford Foundation conference on Contemporary Music for Southeastern College Music Teachers at Nashville, Tenn. He will return to Europe next March for a six-week concert tour of Germany, Belgium, France, Austria and Holland.

While he has received offers from two American colleges to join the faculty as "artist-in-residence" Coulter prefers to remain in the concert tour field for the next several years, at least. "The family likes to travel and I find concert work very rewarding and challenging," he says.

Mountain Club To Hike Over 'Field

Chief Historian Harry Pfanz of the National Park Service staff announced today that on April 19 50 members of the Mountain Club of Maryland plan a five-mile walking tour of the battlefield. The hike will begin at the Visitor Center where a Park historian will brief the group around the relief map in the upper lobby. From there they will hike to Little Round Top, Devil's Den, across to the tower overlooking the Eisenhower Farm, along Seminary Ridge to the Virginia monument, concluding with a walk over the route of Pickett's Charge to the Angle. Park rangers will regulate traffic control at intersections during the hike.

The object of the Mountain Club of Maryland is to facilitate for its members and friends the enjoyment of the out-of-doors, particularly the mountain areas around Baltimore. The club, a member of the Appalachian Trail Conference, is responsible for the maintenance of the Appalachian Trail and shelters between the Susquehanna River and Pine Grove Furnace.

TAX INCREASE IS VOTED BY CONEWAGO

The Conewago Township School Board Thursday night tentatively adopted a budget for the 1964-65 fiscal year of $300,570, including a tax rate on real estate of 51 mills, an increase of six mills. A $10 per capita tax, a one per cent real estate transfer tax and an occupation tax of five per cent remain the same.

It is estimated that $120,135 will be realized from local revenue sources, $51,768 from the state, $12,430 from transfer students and $7,236 from cash on hand. The taxable assessed valuation of Conewago Township is $2,685,570.

J. Arthur Wolfe, principal, stated that the increase, amounting to $14,970, is primarily due to the anticipated greater pupil enrollment of from 380 to 401 pupils. Grades One to 12. Other factors, he said, are an expected increase in tuition by Hanover and mandated salary increases for teachers.

REPORTS BALANCE

Lewis Klunk, treasurer, reported a balance at the beginning of March of $5,112.48, receipts for March of $3,580.21 and expenses of $8,380.28, leaving a balance of $604.41.

The board studied an audit that it had authorized to be made of the tax collectors books by Harry Ness & Co., CPA firm. The audit included the statement that the auditors were pleased with the condition of the books. The board then approved the report of the tax collector, Edward F. Shorb.

Other action taken by the board was to accept the offer of the Conewago Township Board of Supervisors to install flasher warning lights on Elm Ave., and pay for the electricity if the school board would pay for the equipment; accepted the offer of a resident to donate a pin oak tree to be dedicated to a program on Arbor Day; authorized advertising the bids for the purchase of custodial supplies, teaching supplies and fuel oil, and set June 2 as the date for the Eighth Grade graduation exercises.

The board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Karlene Greger with regret. She is moving to another area.

Report Administration Is Confident Of A Voluntary Rail Strike Settlement

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal mediators continue efforts today to settle the mottled railroad work-rules dispute in talks at the White House under the watchful eye of President Johnson.

The President, who has staked his personal prestige on achieving a voluntary agreement, was reportedly maintaining "absolute insistence" that the parties use a 15-day strike postponement to come to terms.

While exchanging comments with newsmen from a White House balcony Friday, Johnson said "there is not a word of truth" in a broadcast report he had engineered the truce to get time for Congress to pass emergency antistrike legislation.

Reliable sources reported administration officials are highly optimistic of a voluntary agreement.

But, the sources said, this does not mean the administration would let the 15 days slip by without preparing emergency legislation as a last resort if necessary.

KEEP IN TOUCH

White House press secretary George Reedy said Johnson had arranged to have the sessions held at the White House and at the Executive Office Building next door so he could keep close personal touch with the situation.

Until Johnson stepped in, a strike at 1201 a.m. Friday had seemed a certainty.

At that hour nearly 200 railroads were to post revised work rules governing wages and working conditions, and some 200,000 members of five operating brotherhoods were to retaliate by walking off their jobs.

4 CALLED STRIKE

The railroads' work-rules changes were announced after four of the unions had called a surprise strike Wednesday against the Illinois Central Railroad.

On Thursday night, Johnson talked the unions into calling off the Illinois Central strike and the railroads into postponing the rules changes.

The three unions at 2001 a.m. April 25.

The dispute, which has exhausted all provisions of collective federal law, involves the industry's proposed changes in mileage pay rates, longer train runs before crews are relieved, and job classification changes.

The night track also opened with a big twin-double, $5,250, paid to three fans on the 5-6-3-3 combination. Larry Reynolds and Paul Diavolles shared riding honors with a pair of wins each. Reynolds won the third on Friendly Ellen, and the seventh on Publican. Diavolles accounted for the first on High Red and the sixth on Royal Symbol.

Today's Talk

TO LIVE — THE GREAT PURPOSE
Here are two quotations from two great writers and students of human nature, as well as students of life.
Thoreau said: "Men were born to succeed, not to fail." And this one from that Kansas seer of a much later period, old Ed Howe. He said: "Success is easier than failure." The one implies that God meant that people should succeed, and the other puts it up to the individual as a proposition, and that it is easier to be a success than it is to be a failure.

In nature every inhabitant is on his own. He takes for granted that he must work to live, and that he must "root" for his living. Man is the only great creation of the Master Creator who all too often thinks that the world owes him a living and that dependency upon someone else is the right and easy way of life. But all such are doomed to failure and to unhappiness. "To live is to function," said the great Justice Holmes. It is the supreme purpose that should dominate every life.

The life of every human being is an individual battle from the cradle to the grave. And that battle should be a distinguished one! Many a scar should evidence an acceptance of this fact. In one of Theodore ("Teddy") Roosevelt's greatest speeches he advocated the "gospel of the strenuous life." And he practiced what he preached, and passed the example on to his boys.

We must all learn to do unpleasant things — agreeably! We must learn the gospel of acceptance, as one of the major maxims of life. If this doesn't lead to satisfaction and happiness, nothing else can! It is also a good idea always to tackle the hardest job — first. You will recall that in a "battle royal" they always dispose of the biggest fellow first. In the end the little fellow is apt to win. And he is in the regular program of life. Life ought to increase in interest with every day lived. It will, if you so organize and plan your life that it becomes impossible for incentive and will or purpose either to die or to become obsolete.

FREEDOM
Boy, if you would drop to sleep Undisturbed, then you must keep Ear alert, in times of choice, To that whispering inner voice Pleading with you to be true To the finer side of life.

If you'd live from year to year, Standing of no man in fear, Free to speak, and free to act, Make with none a secret pact. Choose, when trial comes to you, What you know is right to do.

Gain is less when heavily won; Wrong is never cheaply done. Who to cunning has been swayed Lives of every foe afraid. Knowledge of his moments weak Robs him of the power to speak.

Dread of gossip of his past Holds him shackled to the last. He who unto shame he stands, Silenced tongue and fettered hands.

CHALLENGER FAVORED TO REGAIN TITLE

By LOUIS UCHITELLE
SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — Carlos Ortiz defends his lightweight boxing championship against challenger Kenny Lane tonight and the champion is a 6-5 favorite to retain his title.
This is the fourth defense of the 135-pound crown Ortiz won from Joe Brown in 1962. The 27-year-old Puerto Rican, now living in New York, won his first three defenses by knockouts and he says, "If I hit Lane right, he'll go."
Nevertheless Ortiz adds that he will "be glad to win by decision" the 15-round outdoor bout at Bithorn Stadium where a year ago he knocked out Cuban Doug Vaillant.
The 33-year-old challenger from Muskegon, Mich., is confident, too. A southpaw who has been fighting 11 years and who gained a 10-round decision over Ortiz six years ago, Lane feels he is the better boxer and that he will win for him.
"There's no way that guy can beat me unless he's lucky," the Michigan left-hander declared. "He was thinking of his second and last fight with Ortiz in 1959 when he was stopped on cuts. Ortiz is working on a 10-bout winning streak and has an overall 43-4 record including 16 knockouts. Lane has won seven straight and has an 85-11 record, including 15 kayos.
The fight is scheduled for 9 p.m. EST and will be broadcast here, in the Virgin Islands, the

Three Swimming Records Collapse

BLACKPOOL, England (AP) — Three world records were shattered in the British-Russian swimming meet Friday night, two by the Soviets.
Jill Norfolk, 17-year-old London hairdresser, swam the 100-yard backstroke in 1:00.8. This compares with the listed world record for women of 1:10 set by Sapoko Tanaka of Japan.
The Soviet marks came when Georgi Prokopenko did the 220-yard breast stroke in 2:31.4 and the Russian 440-yard medley relay team did 4:08.
The relay time bettered the 4:09.3 set by an Indianapolis, Ind., Athletic Club squad in July 1962, and the breast stroke time compares to the 2:33.4 set by M. Shigematsu of Japan in March, 1962.

STANLEY CUP SERIES OPENS THIS EVENING

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Stanley Cup, 71-year-old golden fleece of hockey, goes on the line tonight at Toronto when the defending champion Maple Leafs and form-defying Detroit Red Wings meet in the opener of a best-of-seven series for the National Hockey League post-season title.

The series is a rematch of the 1963 final round, won by Toronto in five games. The prize is $2,000 for each player on the winning team—about $1,500 more than the Cup's value when Canada's Earl Stanley donated it to the Western Canada Hockey League, forerunner of the NHL, in 1893.

LEAFS FAVORED
The Leafs are favored to repeat—they are seeking a third successive Cup title and 10th in the league's 47-year history. Toronto fashioned an 8-3-3 season edge over Detroit. Furthermore, a fourth-place club has yet to win the post-season championship.

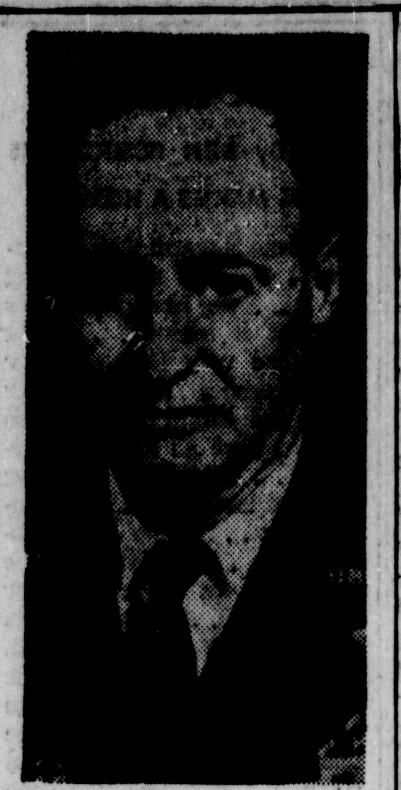

Detroit finished with a rush and nailed the fourth and last playoff berth. Toronto wound up third, beaten by surprise champion Montreal and Chicago.

The Leafs and Wings already have pocketed $1,500 per player for upending the Canadiens and Black Hawks, respectively, in semifinal sets, each of which went the seven-game limit.

The Canadiens, crippled by injuries to Jean Beliveau and Gilles Tremblay, bowed to the underdog Leafs in a bruising series that produced seven penalties in the deciding game at Montreal 3-1, with Dave Keen scoring all three goals and goalie Johnny Bower stopping 39 shots.

2 MAY TRICKS
Detroit, led by Norm Ullman's two hat tricks and the incomparable Gordie Howe with 11 scoring points, battled the favored Hawks on even terms for six games and ousted them 4-2 in the tie-breaker at Chicago. Howe had a goal and two assists in the finale.

Terry Sawchuk, Detroit's regular goalie, was in and out of a hospital, result of a pinched nerve in his left shoulder, throughout the series. If Sawchuk, who needs two shutouts to equal Turk Broda's playoff record, can't play, young Roger Crozier will fill in.
The Red Wings, seven-time Cup winners, haven't clicked since 1953. Four members of that club — Howe, Sawchuk, Marcel Pronovost and Alex Delvecchio — are still winging and a fifth, Red Kelly, wears a Toronto jersey.

BOSTON (AP) — The State Ballot Law Commission has refused to let candidates for delegates to the Democratic National Convention run pledged to support Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy for the vice-presidential nomination.

State election officials said Friday that the commission had disallowed pledges to Kennedy in two instances.

Two pledges to support President Johnson for the presidential nomination also were disallowed. The pledges were not allowed because neither Kennedy nor Johnson had given permission for the use of his name as required by state law.

ACES DEFEAT PITTSBURGH

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Quebec Aces have dealt themselves into the American Hockey League title showdown and the Cleveland Barons are a step away from completing the card.

Quebec, appearing for the first time in Calder Cup elimination play, ousted Pittsburgh with a 5-3 victory Friday night. The decision was the Aces' fourth in five semifinal round games between the AHL's regular season leaders in the Eastern and Western divisions.

Cleveland leads Hershey 3-0 in the other semifinal series, a best-of-five set, and the Barons can reach the final round by beating the Bears tonight at Hershey. Cleveland took two straight from Rochester before clubbing the Bears 7-1 and 5-1 in semifinal games at Cleveland.

Cleland Morton, a 30-year-old forward in his first year with Quebec, led the charge past Pittsburgh with a hat track Friday. Morton, No. 3 in the season scoring race, tallied once in the first period and twice in the second as the Aces built a 3-2 lead after two periods.

Don Blackburn and Bill Dineen completed the Quebec scoring. Hank Ciesla, Lowell MacDonald and Ted Hampson scored for the Hornets.

GHS Edges Delone 7-6 In Eight-Inning Opener; Host Fairfield Tuesday

It took two extra innings for the Gettysburg High School baseball team to eke out a 7-6 verdict over Delone here Friday afternoon in opening its 1964 campaign.

In the bottom of the eighth inning Dane Kennell started with a single and stole second base. Eddie Tilberg was a strikeout victim and Kennell advanced on a miscue. Mike Herring then beat out an infield dribbler as Kennell raced home with the winning run.

Mike Flynn was the big gun in the attack for the Warriors in pounding out a pair of singles and a triple to knock home three runs. Tom Weikert's walk and stolen base, followed by Flynn's single, gave Gettysburg a run in the first inning.

Delone pushed over a pair of runs in the second inning off Charley Greiner on a hit batsman, fielder's choice, single by Steve Little and double by George Smith. An error, and single by Dave Knox added a Squire run in the third.

WARRIORS TAB THREE
Flynn's triple, following an error and walk to Weikert, accounted for two runs in the Warrior fifth, Flynn later scoring on Ken Ketterman's fly to center.

Gary Herring, who had replaced Greiner in the fifth, was reached for three runs in the top of the sixth. A walk to Jim Roth, double by Bob Wagner, single by George Smith, plus Herring's wild throw on a pickoff play, put Delone in front 6-5.

Eddie Tilberg's single, an error, and single by Mike Herring enabled the Warriors to tie the score in the last of the sixth. Joe Lawrence replaced Junie Reese on the mound for Delone in the seventh and was the eventual loser.

The Warriors will meet Fairfield here Tuesday afternoon when the Adams County League season gets underway. Delone, now 0-2, tangles with Kennard-Dale Monday at McSherrytown.

HARNER HURLS THREE-HITTER AS N.O. WINS

New Oxford, defending champion of the Adams County League, opened its 1964 baseball season with a 5-0 victory over Boiling Springs Friday afternoon at New Oxford. John Harner, Junior right-hander, pitched a brilliant three-hit shutout for the Colonials. Harner struck out 13, walked one man, and hit one, and was in complete control throughout the game. Only once did he allow a runner past second base and that came in the last inning when Don Herr singled, stole second, and then stole third.

The Colonials exploded for four runs in the second inning and that proved to be more than enough for Harner. With one out in the second frame, Dugald Wests singled out, but the Colonials got a break when Larry Wolf was safe on an error. Dick Sharver then walked to load the bases. This set the stage for Jim Mayer, who came through with a two-base hit to score Wests and Wolf. Larry Phiel singled in the other two runs of the inning.

The Colonials got Harner an insurance run in the fifth when Hoff singled, stole second, and raced home on an error. By this time, Harner was breathing to victory as if it were the middle of the season.

LEAD ATTACK
Mayer, Phiel and Harner each contributed two hits to the 11-hit attack. The Colonials also proved their worth in the field as they played errorless ball.

New Oxford opens defense of its Adams County League crown on Tuesday afternoon at Littlestown.

BOLTS DEFEAT SPRING GROVE

Littlestown High School, behind the strong relief pitching of Steve Basehor, roared back from a 4-0 deficit to register an 8-4 victory over Spring Grove on Friday afternoon on the loser's diamond. The win was the second straight for the Thunderbolts who have yet to taste defeat this season.

Littlestown spotted the home-runners a 4-0 lead in the first inning, then came back to tie the score in the last of the second frame. Louie Orndorff, junior shortstop, played a two-run triple to feature Littlestown's four-run inning. The Thunderbolts took the lead in the third frame with a singleton. Terry Poteroff got on base via a two-base error and scored on Jeff Robert's base knock. This was all the runs Basehor needed to preserve the victory, but his mates picked up insurance runs in the fourth and sixth innings to win going away. Basehor picked up the win for the Thunderbolts who played errorless ball to back him up.

The Thunderbolts open their home season and the Adams County League at the same time when they play host to New Oxford on Tuesday afternoon.

Palmer Roars Through 2nd Round Of Augusta Masters And Takes 4-Stroke Lead

By JIM BECKER

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Now Arnie's Army has an air force. It buzzed the Augusta National Golf Course while Arnold Palmer burned it up down below, and when the "all clear" sounded Palmer had a commanding four-stroke lead after 36 holes of the Masters tournament Friday.

Only a highly unlikely tail spin in the last two rounds can keep Palmer from an unprecedented fourth Masters victory. Palmer mounted one of his famed charges on the back nine of the 6,900-yard golfing course while a churning mass of fans swept him along. The 34-year-old golfing millionaire ripped off four birdies on the last six holes and finished with a four-under-par 68.

Added to his opening-round 69, it gave him a halfway total of 137, four strokes ahead of Gary Player of South Africa.

Player, who was even with Palmer in the five-man traffic jam for the lead after the first round, had par 72 for 141. Gene Littler, former U.S. Open champion, and Don January, a 34-year-old Dallas pro who has never won an important title, were tied for third at 142.

Champagne Tony Lama, who also had a 68 Friday, stood at 143, six shots behind Palmer, along with British Open champion Bob Charles, the left-hander, Dave Marr and Dow Finsterwald.

NICKLAUS TRAILS
Defending champion Jack Nicklaus, the Ohio golden bear, played the long par fives poorly—"I'm supposed to pick up strokes on those and instead I lost them," he said—and finished with a 73 for 144, seven strokes back.

Eleven other players also had 144, including three-time winner Jimmy Demaret and amateur Billy Joe Patton.

The field was cut to the low 44 players and ties. It took 148 to make it.

Nicklaus looked at Palmer's score, and said:

"If old 'One Putt' can shoot two 70's the next two days, nobody is going to catch him. Of course, he might shoot 73 and I might have a 73. I didn't, though."

"GO, ARNIE, GO"
Palmer, who is rapidly establishing a tradition of winning here in the "even" years—he won in 1958, 1960, and 1962—had the customary aid of the surging Arnie's Army on the ground Friday.

He also got air support. A two-engine airplane circled the course trailing a streamer with big red letters reading: "Go, Arnie, Go."

"Big Jack said my wife was probably flying the plane," Palmer said.

He calls Nicklaus "Big Jack" in mock tribute to Nicklaus' booming drives. Nicklaus calls Palmer "One Putt."

Tyler Was Most Prolific President; Fathered 7 Children By 2nd Wife

By VIRGINIA PALMER
Written for
The Associated Press

Our most prolific President, John Tyler, was a lean 6-footer who sired 15 little Tylers by two wives. Seven of them were born after he retired from office but obviously not from family life.

While Tyler's record is not one to be overtaken easily, the statistics on our other Presidents as fathers are often impressive.

Six were childless, but the remaining 28 (including John F. Kennedy) account for 128 heirs — 76 boys and 50 girls. This figures out to 3.7 children each, well above the current national average.

The Tyler brood is formidable, but it was Grover Cleveland who had the distinction of being the only President to have a child born in the White House. This shows the proper paternalistic spirit because when he took office the first time he wasn't even married.

Cleveland also is included, along with Tyler and Benjamin Harrison, who went on enlarging their family after their White House stint ended.

TYLERS CLOSE FAMILY
The White House must have been really jumping in the days after John Tyler, his invalid wife and seven children moved in back in 1841. An eighth child had died in infancy.

According to legend, Vice President Tyler was involved in a hot game of marbles with his sons at their Virginia home when word reached them that President William Henry Harrison was dead.

The Tylers were a simply living, closely knit family which often gathered about the piano singing and entertaining old friends and frequent honored guests. Mrs. Tyler, who had suffered a serious stroke three years previously, stayed in the background. After attending her one and only White House function, she died in September, 1842, at the age of 52.

TYLER MARRIES AGAIN
Within two years the widowed President began to woo the daughter of one of his wealthy friends, a former New York state senator, whose family owned Gardiner's Isle off Long Island.

They were all together with a large party on a yacht when an explosion killed the girl's father. The grief-stricken 24-year-old society beauty was consoled by the President of the United States. An incurable romantic, he even composed a love song, "Sweet Lady, Awake," in her honor.

Despite the objections of his grown children, President Tyler and pretty Julia Gardiner were married quietly in New York City. Then they returned to Washington where for eight months "her serene loveliness" enjoyed her hostess role at lavish parties.

In retirement from public office, the Tylers settled down to the business of raising another Tyler family. The ex-President was 70 and had a 20-year-old granddaughter when the last of his seven children by his second wife was born. His first child was born in 1816. The last died in 1933. Several of his children by the first marriage never set eyes on the offspring of the second Mrs. Tyler, but who, it seems, all turned out exceptionally well. There were several lawyers, politicians, businessmen, and one, Lyon Gardiner Tyler, became president of Williams and Mary College which his father and grandfather had attended.

WHITE HOUSE BABY
President Cleveland, who married for the first and only time at 47, declared after the birth of his first child that fatherhood was more wonderful than all the previous fame, honor and glory he had known.

In 1893, when the Tylers made their famous comeback to the White House, they had a 17-month daughter. Within eight months the stork deposited another bundle on the famous doorstep. When Cleveland retired four years later, there were three little girls lined up with the luggage and Mrs. Cleveland.

Esther Cleveland — the only child actually born in the White House — now lives in England with her husband, William Bosanquet, the retired board chairman of a steel company. At 68, the mother of two daughters, Mrs. Bosanquet runs a 17-acre estate and recalls little of her White House days for, when she left there, she was younger than Carolyn Kennedy is today.

Out of office, the Tylers moved to Princeton, N. J. There in a lovely colonial mansion, the 60-year-old former president enjoyed life among his neighbors and the students at the university.

When his family grew to include two sons, Cleveland began to worry about his wife's ability to manage financially in the event of his death. He wrote and lectured trying to interest the government in granting presidential pensions, unheard of at that time.

TRAGEDY STRIKES
Once again Cleveland came into national prominence when he helped clean up an insurance company scandal, and was installed as president of the Association of Life Insurance Companies at a salary of $25,000 a year.

Then tragedy struck the family. In the summer of 1904, the oldest girl died. The powerful man, who overcame even a cancer of the mouth while he was in office, began to fail rapidly. In 1908, he passed away.

Frances Folsom Cleveland remained a handsome young widow for five years. Then in 1913 she married a Princeton professor of archeology. As Mrs. Thomas Preston Jr. she died on October 29, 1947. She was the only wife of a President to remarry.

The White House family quarters were bursting at the seams when the Benjamin Harrisons took over in 1889. In addition to the 55-year-old President and his wife, there were two grown children, grandchildren, Mrs. Harrison's aged father and assorted nieces and nephews.

Mrs. Harrison died before her husband's one term ended, knowing only that she opposed very strongly.

A FATHER AT 63
After Cleveland defeated him in 1892 and swept back into office, Harrison spent four years making a new life for himself. When the bearded, white-haired former President decided to remarry, his choice was the niece and secretary of the first Mrs. Harrison. In April, 1896, in New York City the elderly Harrison made 38-year-old Mrs. Mary Lord Dimmick his bride. They took extensive trips, and she encouraged his writing articles for magazines.

When Harrison was past 63, their daughter was born. He was delighted with her. When he died of pneumonia four years later, the will he had prepared one month before was read: "If another child should be born to me and my present wife, I give and bequeath to such child the sum of $10,000. . ."

library of another city when it threatened to outstrip their own.

The Alexandria Library was long renowned as a center of learning when the library at Pergamum began to show signs of overshadowing it. The Alexandrians promptly cut off the supply of papyrus to Pergamum. The people of Pergamum, looking around for something to write on, hit on animal skins . . . and went on to develop a better writing material. It came to be called "pergamenum," from which our word "parchment" is derived.

Pergamum's library was saved, for the time being. But the resourceful citizens were finally outdone by love. Mark Antony took 200,000 scrolls from Pergamum and gave them to Cleopatra for the Alexandrian Library.

The library at Alexandria was built by Cleopatra's ancestors in the 300's B.C. Scholars believe it contained more than 500,000 scrolls, representing the literature of all the known world.

After Antony, the Romans took less interest in literature and much of the library was destroyed during Roman sieges. The Arabs are believed to have completed the destruction of the library in the A.D. 640's.

Citizens in Quebec City tried to unite English and French-speaking Canadians in 1779 by founding a library that had books in each language.

The Library of Congress was built around the private collection of Thomas Jefferson. Congress purchased Jefferson's library after the first Library of Congress was burned during the War of 1812.

When Millhimes was picked up by the officers Wednesday afternoon he had cuts on both hands.

EXPLAINS CUTS

Sgt. Daniel P. Miller testified that Millhimes told him during the interrogation that he had left Gettysburg about 1:45 Wednesday morning, riding with a man from Carlisle whom he did not know, to Biglerville. The burglary at Gettysburg occurred, according to the police, about 1:40.

Sgt. Miller said Millhimes claimed that he stopped at Shetters' service station and bought a bottle of soft drink. He then fell, breaking the bottle and cut his hands on that bottle. The officer said he visited the service station and traveled along the area between there and Millhimes' home and was unable to find a broken bottle.

RETURNED TO JAIL

Officers Miller, Potter and Menges all testified there were tiny particles of glass on Millhimes' face when they interrogated him Wednesday afternoon.

Millhimes, represented by Attorney Ronald Hagarman, did not testify at the hearing. Justice Snyder returned Millhimes to jail in default of bail to await the August term of court. Discussion indicated Millhimes will probably seek to raise bail.

LONG HAIR HENS LAY BEST EGGS TO BEETHOVEN

MUZZANO, Italy (AP) — There's a chicken welfare state up here where the hens are real eggheads. They wear glasses and prefer Beethoven to the Beatles.

The hens are easily bored, sensitive and quarrelsome. But the eggs they lay are beauties—uniformly large and with more yolk than white.

They're just the kind of eggs pastry firms in Milan, north of Muzzano, want for their mass production. Chicken experts say they found out the only way to get such eggs on a regular schedule was to give hens the best of everything.

The result is the Aurora Poultry Farm, a Utopia where no hen has to scratch for a living.

At Aurora specially prepared mash is delivered every day at the same time on an electronically controlled belt.

AIR CONDITIONING

The hen house never gets hot or stuffy. It's air conditioned.

Least any hens become disturbed by changes in the weather, a lighting system creates the illusion of an endless summer day.

The experts also learned that nothing helps egg production so much as music. They found out that catchy rhythms like rock 'n' roll tend to disturb the chickens but the hens take to the classics like ducks to water.

As a result the chickens get a daily diet of Beethoven, Bach and Chopin piped over hen house loudspeakers.

For some reason, however, this life of luxury has made the hens so irritable they can't stand the sight of each other.

To avoid pointless bickering the chickens are fitted with special rubber blinders that look like eyeglasses.

BALMY APRIL WEEKEND SEEN

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mild, dry spring weather spread across the nation today, giving the country its first balmy weekend of the year.

Temperatures were in line with the season — mild days and cool nights — with only a smattering of intermittent rain reported.

A few showers fell during the night in the Pacific Northwest and from the Central Rockies to Minnesota. Scattered thundershowers were reported in southeastern Florida.

But generally it was a typical mid-April spring weekend: Pleasant temperatures, clear skies and dry weather.

Early morning temperatures ranged from the 30s in the higher Rockies and across the northern tier of the Eastern United States to the 70s in extreme Southern sections of the country.

The FBI accused Laufer, who

3 CHILDREN END 4 DAYS IN MANSION

MENA, Ark. (AP) — Three children left the governor's mansion in Little Rock and went home to a 65-acre farm in western Arkansas and said they were glad to be back.

Wayne Cude, 12, and his sisters Della Marie, 11, and Linda May, 8, were back with their parents after a four-day stay with Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

Faubus' wife, Alta, who had cared for the children, kissed them good-bye on the steps of the mansion Friday.

"The Faubuses are pretty nice people," Wayne said. "Extra nice. But I missed home cooking. And mostly Momma and Daddy."

KEPT FROM SCHOOL

Archie T. B. Cude Sr. kept the three children out of school because the school board insisted they have a smallpox vaccination. He says reading the Bible has taught him that use of medicines makes one spiritually impure. Faith in God is all that is needed to be healed, he claims.

State law requires children to attend school until they reach the age of 16 or complete the eighth grade, ruled Chancellor Wesley Howard of Texarkana.

The Arkansas Supreme Court, upholding Howard's ruling, ordered the State Welfare Department to place the three youngsters in a foster home, vaccinate them, enroll them in school and then take them home.

WILL APPEAL

But Faubus took the children to the mansion, and, through Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett, worked out an arrangement by which the children could return home until the state vs. religion conflict is settled.

Cude says he will appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The Arkansas court refused Friday to rescind its order, but it said the children could go home if Howard consented.

Cude vows he will not accept the children if the state vacates them.

The Cudes have five other lives near Blue Bell, of taking about $3,950 during a period of several years.

CATTLE HAVE FOOT PROBLEM

Prolonged stabling of dairy cattle over the long winter months often leads to foot problems, according to the Pennsylvania Veterinary Medical Association.

The most common and troublesome of these is an infectious condition which erodes the horny covering of the heel so that the sole of the foot becomes undermined. The exposed tissues are susceptible to other infectious organisms and lameness follows.

This disease, usually called "thrush," can be easily identified by the fowl odor often noticed when the cow is being milked.

Affected cows are restless and lie down in the stall more than usual. Particular attention should be given to newly-acquired cows since they may introduce the infection to the herd.

Control of thrush is only possible by early detection of symptoms, corrective trimming of the hooves and local application of an effective medication. A veterinarian should be consulted if the feet are swollen or obviously badly infected.

Waits 21 Years For His Diploma

SHENANDOAH, Pa. (AP) — After waiting 21 years, Jerry Wolman, millionaire owner of a professional football team and Washington D.C. contractor, received his high school diploma.

Attired in a cap and gown on the stage in the Shenandoah High School auditorium for the one-man graduation exercises Friday, the 37-year-old owner of the Philadelphia Eagles told the students, "don't be foolish and drop out. I have learned that education is most important."

Wolman, who left school in his senior year to help out at home, was presented the diploma by school board president Metro Litwak. The students gave Wolman a five minute ovation when he went to accept the diploma.

Litwak called Wolman Shenandoah's No. 1 salesman and chief ambassador of good will.

GAMBLER SAYS HE GAVE MONEY TO STRANGER

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — George C. Gradel, a licensed gambler from Kentucky, testified in U.S. District Court here that he delivered $5,800 to a "mysterious man in tinted glasses" in Reading two years ago.

Gradel testified Friday on the whereabouts of an alleged $7,500 payoff from parking meter contracts during the trial of former Reading mayor John C. Kubacki, and Abraham Minker, of Reading.

The two were charged with extorting $10,500 and an $890 check from two parking meter firms doing business with the city of Reading.

Minker is currently serving a four-year prison term for failure to pay excise taxes on gambling money.

The prosecution in effect tested its case Friday and will review some 60 exhibits over the weekend. Proceedings will resume Monday afternoon.

Gradel said he was acting as an agent for the Karpark Corp., of Starkville, Miss., and made the payoff in December, 1962, in a room adjoining the office of

URA Sanctions Pottstown Loan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Urban Renewal Administration announced Friday a $228,527 grant and a $271,827 loan to the Montgomery County Redevelopment Authority for an urban renewal project in Pottstown.

The Community Facilities Administration announced these advances for Pennsylvania projects:

Coal Township, Northumberland County, $16,500 to plan construction of a sewer system to cost an estimated $435,000. Montgomery, Lycoming County, water and sewer authority, $15,000 for planning sewer system improvements to cost an estimated $385,000.

Gradel said further that Liever, whom the prosecution has tried to link with Minker in the control of parking meter contracts, told him, "The man you want to see is in the next room."

Another witness, George C. Patton, executive director of the Reading parking authority, testified the authority had considered purchasing meters from Karpark, but decided against it after learning Liever was to be Karpark's sales representative.

SILVER BOWL TO SCRANTON

MONTCLAIR, N. J. (AP) — Gov. William W. Scranton, Pennsylvania Republican chief executive, discarded a prepared text attacking the Democrats Friday night because he said he did not want to discuss politics at a social function.

In a statement distributed to newsmen, Scranton described the Democrats as too divided to act on civil rights and "incapable of dealing with a social crisis in the kindling stage."

But in his address to the Montclair Club of Yale University, Scranton skipped over the section in his text dealing with the Democrats, saying "this would get me into the political, and I don't want to do that."

Scranton, a 1939 Yale graduate, received the club's annual silver bowl award for "outstanding service to the nation and Yale."

Grandfather of all the temporary office buildings in Washington is a yellow brick one on the Mall. Built in 1856, it first served as the District of Columbia Armory. Since, it has been a Civil War hospital, a museum warehouse, an aquarium, a motion picture studio, an office building and a government paint shop.

Women Boosters Greet Scranton

WASHINGTON (AP) — "We want Scranton" chanted some 300 Republican women as Governor William Scranton arrived here for a conference of Republican governors.

"You all know how we feel about the Republican presidential nomination," the Pennsylvania chief executive said. "We want to be sure that when we get to the convention in July we come out with a united party to elect the next President of the United States."

Scranton and his wife, Mary, arrived here Friday. The women were attending the 12th annual Republican women's conference. The governor was scheduled to attend a luncheon given by the Republican today.

The demonstrators, mostly Pennsylvanians, were waiting for the Scrantons when they arrived at their hotel. Their signs read: "Scranton for President," and "Out on a Limb for a Friend—Scranton."

COLLEGIANS NIP SCRANTON

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Scranton's stronger posture in opposition to his candidacy for the presidency apparently was reflected in balloting at the intercollegiate conference of government's model convention.

Scranton received no votes Friday night as the 500 college students acclaimed President Johnson for re-election after two ballots.

Three delegations favoring Scranton withdrew their support "rather than embarrass him and out of respect to his wishes."

Skipping across party lines, the students gave Johnson 230 votes on the second ballot, 127 to Henry Cabot Lodge and 69 to Adlai Stevenson.

With only 241 needed for nomination, the convention then unanimously moved to accept Johnson.

Robert Hacking of West Chester State College was elected speaker of the convention, a feature of the 28th annual meeting attended by some 500 students from 50 colleges and universities.

MacARTHUR IN HISTORY
Was He America's Greatest General?
Is Greatness Measured Comparatively?

By JIM DAN HILL

GENERAL MacARTHUR fought a long delaying action before he reluctantly yielded to the grim conqueror who ultimately vanquishes all.

At age 84 he had lived a year longer than the Duke of Wellington, Ireland's contribution to military immortality and one of the most famous of the English speaking great captains. Within the 37 years that the "Iron Duke" lived after defeating Napoleon at Waterloo, he found time to see edited and published, in 12 volumes, the more significant of his military dispatches.

General MacArthur died before his recently finished, many paged, hand-written, autobiographical manuscript could be published. It can hardly add to or subtract from his already firmly established fame as one of the great captains of history.

THE MAN'S versatility was amazing. As a student he was superb. In palace soldiering in Washington, he was peerless. In the field he was a soldier's soldier.

As a young major, he left the Washington staff for the National Guard mobilization on the Mexican border in 1916. He was one of the few professionals to discern the high quality of the Guardsmen; wrote reports praising their resourcefulness, abilities for getting things done; thought the mobilization was rapid and a great success, while other professionals bemoaned and down graded the volunteer "amateurs."

MacArthur had confidence in the American citizen soldiers. They reciprocated with abiding confidence in him. It was the secret of his brilliant success as the Rainbow Division's chief of staff, as an infantry brigade commander within the Rainbow and later as commander of that division. This World War I division was composed of National Guard units from 22 states. Their record under his leadership made him a permanent brigadier general while most of his West Point classmates were reverting to peace-time ranks of lieutenant colonel or lower.

It was this competitive margin that carried MacArthur to top assignments prior to and at the beginning of World War II.

AN ENGLISH military historian presents General MacArthur as America's greatest commander in World War II, and perhaps in this century. Some Americans read it with a jaundiced eye. What about Pershing? What about Eisenhower? Was the English concept because these two great captains had necessarily irritated some British high headquarters?

Such invidious comparisons are both bootless and silly. Unlike personalities in the performance of unlike tasks make comparative evaluations impossible. Confronted by a vigorous foe within the fog of war, all the great commanders have at times been forced to immediate and often frightening decisions. All have been embarrassed. Witness Wellington's seeking refuge within the Torres Vedras Lines; Eisenhower's discounting German capabilities for their initial success in the Battle of the Bulge, and MacArthur's recoil from the Yalu.

Nevertheless, to date, no one has been able to propose a convincing name that remotely might have done better than Wellington in Spain; than Eisenhower as supreme commander in Europe; than MacArthur in the Pacific. That is the measure of a great captain in history.

ATTEMPTS to compare their respective tasks are equally futile. It can be truly said MacArthur labored under a secondary priority, with fewer divisions, less resources, farther from home support and over far flung fronts dominated by ocean vastness; but his operations were masterpieces of co-operation and co-ordination of fleets, army divisions and airplanes.

Eisenhower's theater was nearer, more compact and of top priority. It had to be. The victory flushed, enemy armies were the best trained, most experienced, most modernly equipped that Europe has ever fielded. Almost equally worrisome were temperamental allies quite willing to blame any transitory reverse upon the untested, American commander and his untried, hastily equipped divisions.

Who can compare such vast and dissimilar military tasks? It is enough to say that, in the dark days following Pearl Harbor, it was fortunate for the free world that America had two such competent American military leaders so fully capable of wearing the mantles of greatness that destiny more or less thrust upon them.

For reasons that need not detain us here, Britain was equally fortunate in have a great captain, General H. R. L. G. Alexander. He is the third of the truly great English speaking army commanders in World War II. There is no way to compare him with the other two. Greatness is something that exists within itself.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

The beautiful and unique Chapel No. 1 at Randolph Air Force Base in Texas is a symbol of faith in the Armed Forces. Within this church, whose architecture combines that of the San Antonio missions San Jose and Concepcion, services are held each Sunday for five of our great Christian Faiths. The altar is changed to fit each service including Catholic Mass, Episcopal Communion, and Baptist, Methodist, Lutheran and Mormon. The chaplains of each faith work together to give meaning to the spiritual life of Randolph. One thing is constant; four flags are suspended from the walls of the chancel and remain there throughout all services. The American flag, the Christian flag, the Chaplain's flag, and the flag of Judaism. As Jesus said, "In my Father's House are many mansions..."

University Distributes New Fertilizer Table; Reports On Alfalfa Test

By THOMAS E. PIPER
Adams County Farm Agent

Since March, a new fertilizer recommendation form for field crops has been distributed by the Pennsylvania State University soil test laboratory. It is hoped the new recommendation form will reduce confusion and make interpreting recommendations easier.

Thomas E. Piper

Except for the fertilizer recommendation table, the new form is like the one formerly used. The new table includes the pounds of nitrogen, phosphate, and potash required per acre along with letter indicators showing how these plant nutrients should be applied. For instance, if a soil low in fertility was tested for corn production and the preceding crop which had been grown on this soil was small grains, the soil recommendation would read as follows:

FD - 100 - 50 - 50; R - 15 - 30 - 30.

This recommendation means (FD) plow down 100 pounds of nitrogen, 50 pounds of phosphate, and 50 pounds of potash. Then (R) row apply 15 pounds of nitrogen, 30 pounds of phosphate, and 30 pounds of potash.

Each recommendation for each field crop is similarly presented in the new fertilizer table.

ALFALFA MANAGEMENT.
The yield and persistence of alfalfa crops depend more on fall management than on spring management.

This is a conclusion based on five years of extensive alfalfa management studies, at the Pennsylvania State University by John B. Washko and his associates in the agronomy department.

In studies, first cuttings of two improved alfalfa varieties were made at three stages of maturity in the spring — at full bud, at one-tenth bloom, and at full bloom. The fall management experiments included taking the last cutting, at State College, on either August 25, September 9, or after the first frost.

The highest yields of dry matter and protein were obtained when the first cutting was made at one-tenth bloom followed by a second cutting at one-half bloom, and the third cutting was made in late August regardless of maturity. (Frequently, alfalfa in the State College area was at a prebloom stage of development on this August date.)

These studies indicated that spring treatment of the alfalfa crop is not too decisive, but fall management of the stand is most critical. First cuttings may be made any time from late bud to early bloom on high fertility soils when quality is good without, apparently, impairing the annual hay yield. But to maintain vigorous stands, the crop should be allowed to reach partial bloom before the fall harvest.

PLANT CABS EARLY

Early planting is the surest way of guaranteeing high cut yields this summer. The later cuts are sown, usually the smaller the yield.

This is confirmed by research work at the Pennsylvania Agricultural Experiment Station as well as by New York and Ohio research work.

A date of seeding test at the Penn State Agricultural Experiment Station compared dates two weeks apart. The results are:

Garry variety seeded April 22 produced 60 bushels per acre; when seeded May 6 production was only 48 bushels, or a decrease of 17 bushels for late seeding.

Clinton variety seeded April 22 produced 63 bushels per acre; when seeded May 6 production was only 49 bushels, or a decrease of 14 bushels for late seeding.

Planting oats late also lowers the quality of the crop. In tests Garry increased 5 per cent in hull in late planting. Varieties averaged 7 per cent heavier bushel weight in the earlier planting. These results show early planting to be both more productive and more profitable.

Herbs Add Distinctive Flavor To Ordinary Meals

By MRS. HELEN TUNNISON
Home Economist

Herbs can add a distinctive flavor to everyday meals. Herbs are as easy to use as salt and pepper, but use them with discretion. Use herbs to enhance rather than overpower the flavor of a dish or meal.

MRS. TUNNISON

Persons trying to lose weight may season vegetables with herbs instead of butter. Persons on restricted diets may find herbs a way to give added zip to their foods. However, before a person on a restricted diet uses herbs, he should check with his physician.

To get the best results from herb cooking, experiment with different flavors. If you're not used to cooking with herbs, start by adding small amounts to only one dish of a meal. Then if you wish more flavoring, increase the amount to suit your taste. Until you get used to cooking with herbs, don't try to combine flavors.

Add herbs during the last 30 to 45 minutes of cooking; long cooking develops unpleasant strong flavors.

Six herbs, called "les fine herbes" by the French, are suggested for the beginner. They are basil, chervil, marjoram, thyme, rosemary and tarragon. Other herbs to use alone or in blends include chives, parsley and savory.

FABRIC TEXTURES

Today's fabric textures run the gamut from smooth pure silk to bulky mohair and nubbed or shaggy manmade yarns. Some textures provide fashion interest; others, functional uses. When you select textured fabric you choose according to use.

Smooth semilustrous to lustrous fabrics will shed dust and soil more readily than will dull and rough-textured fabrics. This doesn't mean you should never use tweed, shaggy, and novelty fabrics. Because of irregularities of texture and shading of colors, rough-textured fabrics often show less soil than do smooth plain-colored fabrics.

Type of weave used in a fabric changes its function. Tight, closely woven, smooth fabrics may be almost waterproof; but loosely woven fabrics have more air spaces, making it possible for fabrics to "breathe." Loosely woven fabrics are usually more comfortable to wear than are closely woven fabrics.

Twill weaves, such as those found in gabardines, serges and saris, are considered a tight weave. However, twill weaves have surface interest. Novelty twill weaves, often used with two-toned colored yarns, also have a beautiful texture.

When buying a garment, read the label for fiber content and use and care. Unusual textured fabrics may require special pressing temperatures and care.

BUYING GUIDES

Buying a new or a used chest of drawers calls a recognition of quality. A well-constructed chest of drawers usually has good design, good materials and finish and simplicity of line, all signs of quality workmanship. Before you buy a chest of drawers, know if it is functional and versatile in use.

Also be sure it harmonizes with the furnishings you already have and that it will be easy to maintain. To help you identify the wood in the chest, read the label. For example, the term "solid walnut" means all exposed wood is made of this solid wood. The term "genuine walnut" means solid wood is used for frame parts and walnut veneer for the larger surfaces.

Kiln-dried hardwood, free of knots and other imperfections, should be used in the frame. Supports, braces, posts, legs and stretchers should be of solid wood.

All joinings should be tight and smooth; glued and screwed, not nailed. The cabinet should set rigid and level on the floor.

FREE-GLIDING DRAWERS

Pay close attention to drawers. If they are well-made it is likely the rest of the chest is too. Drawers should glide easily and freely with stops on slides to keep drawers from falling out when pulled too far. Handles should be easy to grasp, firmly attached, evenly aligned and related to the style of the chest.

For ease in storing small items, there should be adjustable dividers in top drawers. When drawers form a flush surface with the chest opening, an exact fit is essential for good appearance and ease in use. Overlapping drawers, which conceal the edge of the drawer opening, may not fit so snug as fitted drawers.

A good finish protects the natural beauty of the chest against moisture and wear. A desirable finish is smooth, even in color and has a soft, satin-like appearance. Special finishes such as ane. Special finishes, such as high-pressure laminated plastics, resist damage from moisture, abrasives and solvents. Before you buy a chest, read labels and ask about special finishes.

New Threat Of Rail Strike Imperils Economic Upswing

By ROGER LANE
NEW YORK (AP) — The 38-month upswing in the nation's economy was imperiled this week by sudden renewal of a railroad strike threat.

The threatened walkout was postponed 15 days in a dramatic announcement by President Johnson about 75 minutes before it was to start at 12:01 a.m. Friday.

If it had materialized, disrupting effects swiftly would have halted humming automobile assembly lines, shut down coal mines, crippled some major steel and chemical operations and otherwise braked the economy's brisk pace.

WORK RULES FIGHT

The latest crisis was another chapter in a dispute between unions and railroad management that began in November 1959 over employee work rules.

It was triggered by a pre-dawn strike Wednesday by 7,200 members of four railroad brotherhoods against the Illinois Central Railroad. White House truce terms called for prompt restoration of service on the Illinois Central.

The world of business and finance was jolted by two other events this week — government charges of a price-fixing conspiracy from 1955 to 1961 against eight leading steel companies, and a clampdown by federal regulators on the New York Stock Exchange.

But there were also some important pluses.

STEEL PRODUCTION UP

Steel production, continuing a strong climb, reached a rate of 125 million tons a year.

The auto industry roared along at breakneck speed.

The Federal Reserve Board reported a surge in credit buying of consumer goods in February. Consumer credit outstanding jumped $579 million, the biggest gain in four years.

The price-fixing indictment by a federal grand jury in New York City was the most far-reaching of the seven antitrust indictments leveled at major segments of the steel industry in the last two years.

PRICE FIXING CHARGE

It alleged that U.S. Steel Corp., Bethlehem Steel Co. and six other large producers joined in secret hotel room meetings to rig charges for "extras" in sale of carbon steel sheets.

Five of the companies issued quick denials, and some mounted a vigorous defense against the charges. Edmund F. Martin, vice chairman of second-ranking Bethlehem, said the allegations dealt with "ancient history" and represented government harassment.

Sales of carbon steel sheet ran $3.6 billion last year, accounting for 31 per cent of industry tonnage and 26 per cent of over-all billings of $14 billion.

Extras account for about one-sixth of the total sales price of sheets, used in auto bodies, household appliances and similar products.

ANNOUNCE RESTRICTIONS

The restrictions affecting the New York Stock Exchange were announced by the Securities and Exchange Commission. They apply to floor trading, direct buying and selling of stocks by an exchange member for his own benefit.

Rigid curbs were proposed by the SEC on floor trading effective July 1. They were acceded to by the stock exchange after exchange officials at first bridled over the severity of the SEC plan, which was relaxed slightly.

The SEC has contended that floor traders benefited from privileges denied the public generally, and their practices represented a vestige of the "private club" days of the stock exchange.

The SEC's stern stand apparently foreshadowed imposition of tightened restrictions on other phases of exchange activity in an outgrowth of the recent investigation of security market practices conducted under SEC auspices.

GOULART FOE SLATED TO WIN BRAZIL OFFICE

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ
BRASILIA, Brazil (AP) — With Brazil's revolutionary military command watching from the sidelines, Congress today elects a new president already armed with the most sweeping powers ever accorded a Brazilian chief executive.

The man expected to get this vast authority is the former army chief of staff, Gen. Humberto Castello Branco, a key figure in the ouster of leftist President Joao Goulart last week.

WILL FINISH TERM

The new president will serve the remainder of Goulart's term, ending Jan. 31, 1966. He will have the burden of trying to solve the many problems of Latin America's ailing giant, including rampant inflation and widespread social unrest.

The revolution's military leaders have empowered the president to purge left wing extremists and corrupt officeholders no matter what immunity they have enjoyed. They also have suspended the political rights of more than 20 congressmen.

The president's extraordinary powers are contained in an "institutional act" proclaimed by the military leadership without congressional consent. The act's life is for the presidential term. It calls for national elections to name a new president Oct. 3, 1965.

CONGRESS MUST ACT

Under the measure, Congress must pass or reject legislation proposed by the President within 30 days. Otherwise the proposals automatically become law.

Brazilian presidents long have complained of difficulty in getting a bickering Congress to pass their social and financial proposals.

Some newspapers contend the institutional act amounts to rule by military junta, but the independent Jornal de Brasil in Rio de Janeiro said the price was worth paying for the "constitutional, material and moral restoration of the country."

With little choice in the matter, Congress prepared halfheartedly for the election. A fistfight nearly broke out when a lawmaker denounced the crackdown on suspected subversives Friday.

Papa Pays Bill For Party Mail

CHICAGO (AP) — Quince Semrow, 4, decided to have a party.

She and a playmate stuffed invitations into envelopes, scribbled addresses on them with crayons and stamped them. To make sure there was no mix-up, Quince marked each envelope with her parents' address stamp.

There was a mix-up. The letters were returned because they were addressed with first names only. And stamped with trading stamps.

The girl's father, Harry H. Semrow, paid the 20 cents postage due. Semrow is the Chicago postmaster.

ST. CLOUD, Minn. (AP) — Harry DeVine got all his flying lessons in one day.

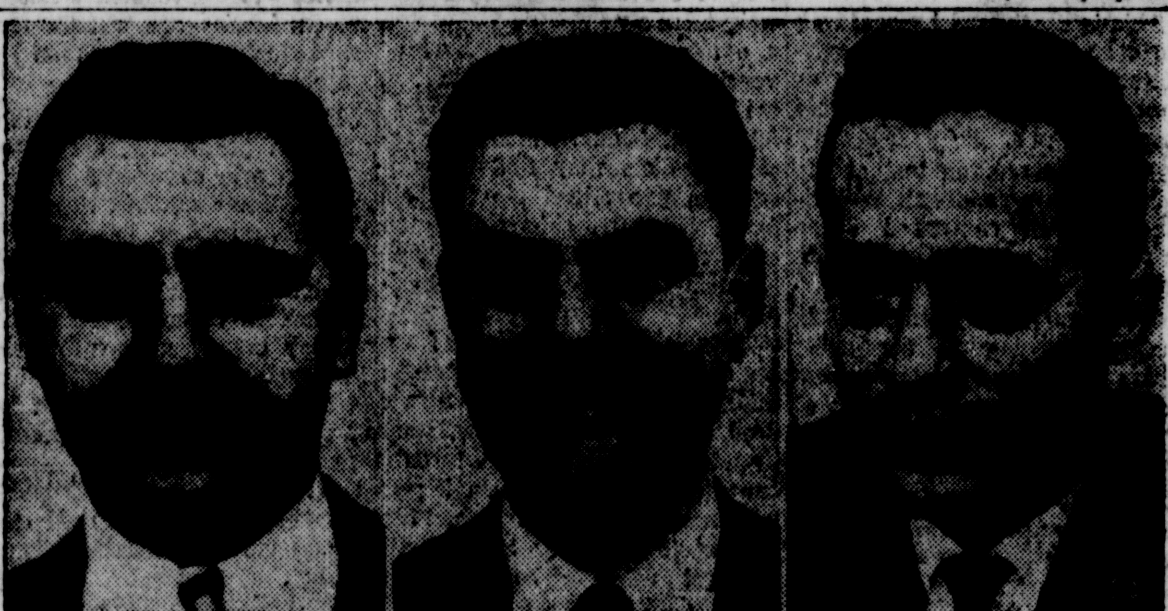

Anxious to start using the plane his employer recently bought, DeVine made 70 take-offs and landings at St. Cloud Airport Friday between 6 a.m. and 7:15 p.m., when he was checked out on two required solo flights.

DeVine, 30, the father of four, will use the plane in his job of selling printed forms to banks.

EXPERTS PICK DODGERS AND YANKS TO WIN

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Both the odds-makers and the experts forecast a second successive World Series between the Los Angeles Dodgers and New York Yankees as the 20 major league clubs neared the starting gate for the opening of the 1964 season.

The Yankee managerial switch from Ralph Houk to Yogi Berra has made no difference to the Las Vegas handicappers, who have installed the Yankees as 1-3 favorites. The Dodgers are 6-5.

PITCHING SPEED

The consensus is the Dodgers have too much pitching and speed for the rest of the National League while the Yankees have too much of everything for their American League rivals. If the Yankees win, it will mark their fifth straight flag, under three different managers.

Oddly enough, the only new managers are in the American League. Hank Bauer will make his debut as manager of the Baltimore Orioles and George Strickland will fill in at Cleveland for Birdie Tebbets, hospitalized with a heart attack.

EYE GIANT'S SWAP

Of the trades made since the close of the 1963 season, the most interesting to watch may be the one in which the San Francisco Giants swapped outfielder Felipe Alou, catcher Ed Bailey and relief pitcher Billy Hoeltz to Milwaukee for pitchers Bob Shaw and Bob Hendley and catcher Del Crandall.

The Detroit Tigers, generally regarded as the most-improved club in the American League, made two major deals in which they acquired outfielder Don Demeter from Philadelphia for pitcher Jim Bunning, and second baseman Jerry Lumpe, along with pitchers Ed Rakow and Dave Wickersham, from Kansas City for outfielder Rocky Colavito.

OTHER TRADES

The St. Louis Cardinals have acquired pitcher Roger Craig, outfielder Carl Warwick and catcher Bob Uecker from rival National League clubs.

Houston has picked up veteran infielder Nellie Fox and Eddie Kasko. The New York Mets have newcomers in outfielder George Altman, catcher Bob Taylor and infielder Amado Samuel.

In the American League, the Los Angeles Angels have acquired veteran first baseman Joe Adcock and pitcher Barry Latman. Baltimore obtained outfielder Willie Kirkland from Cleveland for Al Smith and first baseman Norm Siebern from Kansas City for Jim Gentile. Bill Skowron will make his bow with the Washington Senators, Leon Wagner with the Indians and pitcher Larry Sherry with the Tigers.

OPEN MONDAY

As customary, Washington and Cincinnati will get the jump on their rivals, staging their home openers on Monday, a day in advance of the others. Some 45,000 are expected to see President Johnson throw out the first ball at the game between the Senators and Angels in Washington. Claude Osteen, a left-hander, is scheduled to take the mound for the Senators. He will be opposed by Ken McBride, a right-hander.

The Reds will be opposed by the Colts, who have right-hander Ken Johnson all primed to face either lefty Jim O'Toole or right-hander Jim Maloney. A sellout crowd of 30,000 is assured.

EAGLES GET 2 IN NEW TRADE

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Eagles, in the midst of a rebuilding campaign, acquired defensive tackle Floyd Peters and all-around back Ollie Matson from the Detroit Lions Friday.

The Eagles, last in the National Football League's Eastern Division last season, gave up offensive tackle J. D. Smith, the team's co-captain, for the two Lions.

Both Peters and Matson had spent just one season at Detroit. Peters going there from Cleveland and Matson from Los Angeles. Peters filled in for Alex Karras during his year-long suspension for betting on games.

The trade was the third major deal swung by the Eagles since new coach Joe Kuharich took over. Earlier the Eagles traded away their flashy pass catcher Tommy McDonald to Dallas and then swapped quarterback Sonny Jurgensen to the Washington Redskins for quarterback Norm Snead.

Hysterical Girl Attempts Suicide

NEW YORK (AP) — A 16-year-old girl—after spurning pleas of two priests, her guardian and several policemen for 45 minutes—leaped five stories from a Harlem roof Friday. She landed in a net before some 3,000 onlookers.

The girl, Ona Lee Fuller, was taken to a hospital suffering from shock and hysteria.

Miss Fuller, whose parents are divorced, came to New York about seven months ago from Rhine, N.Y., to live with her guardian, Lt. Charles West of the Salvation Army. The West family lives on the top floor of the Manhattan Citadel, Salvation Army headquarters, on East 125th Street, from which the girl jumped.

SOLDIER KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) — One soldier was killed and another critically injured Friday night when the car in which they and three other soldiers were riding crashed into a bridge abutment on the Cross-Westchester Expressway.

All were stationed at Fort Devens, Mass. Killed was the driver, James St. James, 23, of Morrisville, N.J.

In critical condition at White Plains Hospital was Robert Shea, 19, of Massapequa, N.Y.

In fair condition at the hospital were Walter Robbins, 22, of Nescopec, Pa., and Eugene Tedeschi, 19, of Saint James, N.Y.

In satisfactory condition was George Burkhart, 18, of Miles, N.Y.

The ranks of the soldiers were not available.

Motorist Hits Hole, Loses Vital Parts

ENGLEWOOD, Colo. (AP) — Richard Elkins drove across a hole in the road Friday and the engine, transmission and differential of his compact car fell out.

The hole, 24 feet long, is two feet deep in spots. Elkins was not injured.

MEDICS EXTEND BELGIAN FIGHT FOR NEW LAWS

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Belgium's striking doctors kept their walkout going today while they fought on against the government's new specialized medical law.

Premier Theo Lefevre and some of his ministers were to meet strike leaders again in the third attempt in three days to find some agreement.

Early today when the two sides broke up after negotiating for seven hours, Interior Minister Arthur Gilson said, "I am still optimistic."

Discussions so far have dealt with negotiating procedures. Once those are accepted, the two sides can begin the complex task of settling differences over provisions of the law.

The government wants the doctors to end the strike as a condition for discussing possible revision of the statute. The strikers have said they will hold out until they get a firm commitment from the government on changes demanded by the 10,000 physicians and 2,000 dentists.

The law has been approved by Parliament but decrees must be issued before it goes into effect. The strikers are demanding that decrees be withheld on 25 of the law's articles.

Strikers contend the legislation would damage their relationship with patients, place them under intolerable government supervision and reduce their income by fixing fees for 3,600 types of professional attention.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — Detective Sgt. Pat Patterson chatted with two men while waiting in the cashier's line at a supermarket Friday night.

Seconds after Patterson left the store, the men pulled guns and took an estimated $1,000 from the cashier.

President In Rare Good Mood; "Spring Is Here"

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson may have spring fever. Rarely has he displayed such high good humor as he did Friday.

Johnson exchanged shouts with reporters from the Truman Balcony, practiced his pitching with an imaginary baseball, took a famed poet and an equally renowned photographer into secret rail negotiations, and announced an after-dark news conference that turned out to be a presidential gag.

One informant reported that Johnson even rocked a Cabinet Room conference by flipping off the lights—a jesting gesture evidently prompted by his own lights-out economy program.

CREDIT WEATHER

Some observers attributed the President's ebullience to the weather, which was sunny and 67. Others inclined to the view that he was elated about averting, at least for 15 days, a threatened nationwide rail strike.

For whatever reason, a smiling chief executive kept popping out all over the White House landscape, like the city's spectacular cherry blossoms.

Johnson's final appearance of the day came at 8:30 p.m. when he strolled alone into the lobby of the White House office wing. To a handful of lounging news photographers, the President said: "I'm ready to have a press conference."

"JUST KIDDING!" The photographers sprang from sofas and easy chairs, scrambling for their cameras. Johnson told them he was just kidding, and disappeared down a corridor.

The President made his first, and most serious, appearance of the day shortly after 10 a.m. Launching emergency rail negotiations, he exhorted the contesting parties to heed the prophet Isaiah and "reason together."

Within the hour, Johnson was in a more playful mood as he welcomed American League baseball officials who had a season pass for him.

THROW FIRST BALL

Johnson, who will throw out the first ball when the Washington Senators open the season here Monday against the Los Angeles Angels, boasted: "I've got a good arm. I'm an old first baseman."

Then, on request, he demonstrated his pitching form, letting fly an imaginary ball.

Before lunch, Johnson swelled with pride as William Thatcher, president of the Farmers' Union Grain Terminal Association in St. Paul, tossed out bouquets.

"We were started on a depression," said Thatcher. "You have saved our whole Northwest area from a depression." Smiling, and taking note of the poised pencils of a handful of reporters, Johnson prompted Thatcher, "go ahead."

"Boy," said the farm leader, "What a victory you are going to have this fall."

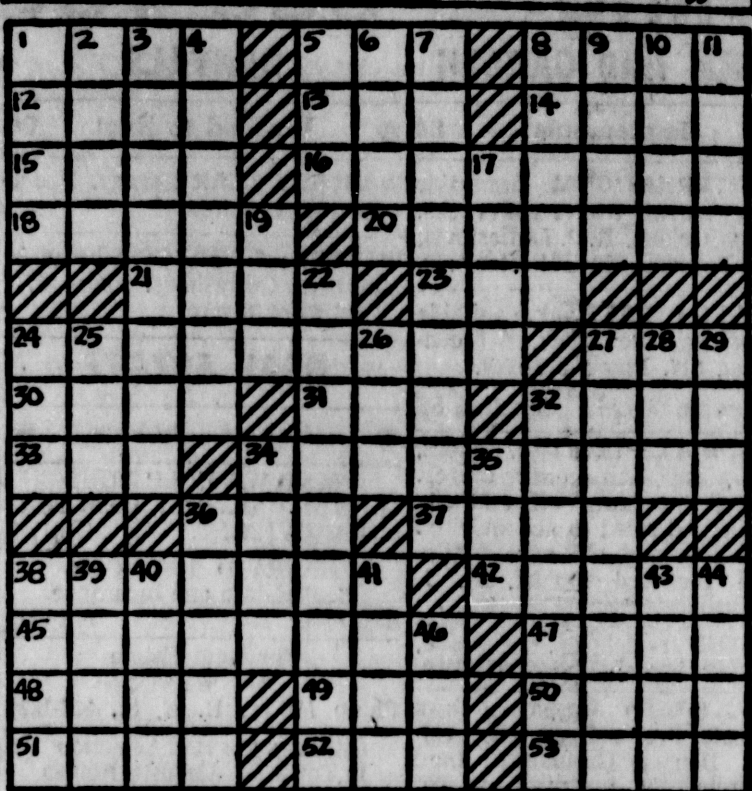

Allentown Man Killed In Crash

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The New Orleans coroner has identified the remains of an Allentown, Pa., man killed when a jetliner crashed into Lake Pontchartrain Feb. 25.

The coroner said Friday the remains of the 26th victim identified were those of Frank Rygaard, 33, of Allentown. The crash of the Eastern Airlines plane claimed 58 lives.

STUDENTS AT 2 COLLEGES FAVOR LODGE

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Muhlenberg College students, in a mock election Friday, selected Henry Cabot Lodge as the likely Republican presidential candidate and Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy as the likely Democratic choice for vice president. The vote for possible Republican presidential candidates was Lodge, the ambassador to South Viet Nam 165; Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton 71; former vice president Richard Nixon 48; Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater 33; New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller 21; Michigan Gov. George Romney 8; Maine Sen. Margaret Chase Smith 3 and former Minnesota Gov. Harold Stassen 2.

The students voting in the Democratic section conceded President Johnson was the party's probable choice for re-election. No vote was taken either on Republican vice presidential possibilities.

GRINNELL FOR LODGE
GRINNELL, Iowa (AP) — Delegates to the Grinnell College mock political convention Friday night selected Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge as their candidate for the 1964 U.S. presidential election. Lodge received the required 648 convention votes on the fifth ballot defeating his only remaining opponent, Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania. To complete the Republican nautics Board, said 56 per cent of the plane's wreckage has been recovered and that the search for the rest of the wreckage has been halted. Yohe said the recovered pieces were too small to try to assemble into the shape of the plane for further study.

RIGHTS CHIEFS OPEN BOYCOTT IN CHESTER, PA.

CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — Carrying signs reading "Hit 'em in the Pocket" and "Chester Go Broke" civil rights leaders have launched an economic boycott in their drive against alleged racial imbalance in public schools.

Leaders called Friday night for Negroes to avoid shopping with Chester merchants. Stanley Branche, chairman of the Committee for Freedom Now, said transportation would be provided to take shoppers to stores outside Chester. There's been no indication on how effective the boycott might be.

Demonstrators with signs, marched through Chester's streets again Friday night, as they have done nearly every night for about two weeks pressing for an end to alleged de facto segregation.

There were no arrests, although the slow moving marchers complicated Chester's traffic patterns.

Branche said demonstrators plan to stand outside local stores to discourage Negroes from patronizing them. He also said photographers will take pictures of Negroes who enter the stores.

In another development Friday Mrs. Louis Drapper, the mother of three, announced the formation of the Chester Parents Association. Mrs. Drapper, the chairman, said the association opposes transporting children in buses to foster desegregation in schools.

FEAR TAX RAISE
She said the association is against busing "because it will result in a substantial increase in taxes or divert funds from other school purposes."

She added, "We also wish to point out that the students' welfare and education would be impaired by uprooting them from familiar neighborhoods and lengthen the school day."

ticket for the 1964 elections, Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, the convention's keynote speaker, was selected as the vice presidential candidate. He defeated Gov. Scranton on the first vice presidential ballot.

Jack Lemmon Will Emcee "Oscar" Awards Ceremony Monday Evening At 10 Over ABC

Debbie Reynolds will be one of many stars who will appear on the ABC-TV and Radio "Oscarcast" Monday, April 13, from 10 p.m., EST to conclusion. Miss Reynolds will appear as a presenter.

By RUTH E. THOMPSON
"Oscar's" world in his 36th year is wider, much wider than the close-knit Hollywood community of 1927 — the year the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences had the gold-plated tin and copper statuettes cast and gave away 15 of them — could have dreamed . . . or feared.

Though the presentations of what is still film's highest honor take place in California (at the Santa Monica Civic auditorium) — and though enough major names to fill several Oscarcasts will be on view, 11 of the nominees are busy on location — out of country, mostly in Europe. The ceremony has its own kind of compensation though. Take the case of Anne Bancroft. She had to bite her nails in private last year when she earned top femme honors because a play kept her in New York. This year, she'll be on hand, live and beautifully garbed, as a "presenter."

IDEAL AS EMCEE

Set to take the air at 10 p.m. (EST) Monday, April 13, on ABC stations is Jack Lemmon, an inspired choice as emcee.

It was his quick, but tastefully delivered ad lib of two Oscarcasts ago, in fact (when he was a presenter) that got him the emceeship for 1964.

"I have no intention of making like a comic," he has solemnly stated and "I wasn't deliberately trying to be a smarty when I flubbed the Italian pronunciations."

He had been going down the screenplay writers nominations "Sergio Amidei, Diego Fabbri, Indro Montanelli, Fredericko Fellini, Tullio Pinelli" he stammered on, and so on until he double-tongued at the last name, "Stanley Shapiro? How did he get in here?"

SENSE OF TIMING

The producer, however, is on record as having no fear about the humor no matter what Lemmon vows. "Of course he won't step out of character as a stand-up comic," but "we'll take full advantage of his spontaneous humor — which was primarily responsible for his choice. Besides his lively wit, Jack has a fine sense of timing and that indefinable thing called stage presence." The one-time Harvard man also has more than his quota of good taste.

Every year's Oscar nominations has its oddities. Two of the most widely noted this year are that three of the five nominees for supporting actress are from the same picture "Tom Jones." They are Diane Cilento, Edith Evans and Joyce Redman. The fourth (for "V.I.P.'s") is doughty marvelous Margaret Rutherford.

Interestingly, the fifth, the lilted Lilya Skala, who got the kind of break she has so long deserved as the Mother Superior in "Lilies of the Field," has had to take an office job since the conclusion of the film to keep busy. A serene woman who takes life as it comes, Lilya is the mother of grown sons who as a young woman in Vienna was a licensed architect. Yes, she's waiting and hoping for more good roles — but in an industry that's now scattered around the world it's a tougher job than the old long-term contract arrangement with the kind of major studio set-up that no longer exists.

CONVENTION GUIDE

CBS announces that its "1964
Guide to Conventions and Elections" is now on the stands in 250-page paperback form. Published by Dell, the 50-cent volume contains special articles by CBS newsmen Walter Cronkite, Robert Trout, Eric Sevareid, Harry Reasoner and Bill
Leonard.
Among the material included in the guide are brief histories of the political parties, biographies of current major political figures (and their wives) and statistic pertaining to party meetings.
Notes Walter Cronkite: "Because of television's full coverage the folks back home are just as conversant with the issues, the men and even the back-room deals as is the delegate, and they let him know their feelings with a constant flood of telegrams and telephone calls."

FACTS OF INTEREST

The name is misleading says
Missouri-born Truman Linden
Chiles (he's shortened it to Linden Chiles for TV billing on "East Side, West Side"). The
Truman is just a coincidence
... he wasn't named for the former President, no relation either.
Orson Bean, frequent TV panelists, however, is instantly related to a one-time President, though he wasn't named after him. Orson bears relationship to the late Calvin Coolidge.
Don Knotts explains: "I'm often asked what my handicap is in golf. I'm ready to tell now.
It's my golf clubs."

the business diffused, once it did, is evident in "The Best Foreign Language Picture" award. It seems only yesterday when Hollywoodites didn't want to give anything to "foreign" moviemakers. If this year's designation didn't have that word "language" there'd be trouble because three of the five best "American" pictures were made abroad and England's "Tom Jones" in fact, has copped the top total of 10 nominations.

Still and all Monday's viewers are going to get an eyeful while they wait it out to see who's winning. Rock Hudson will be manning a mike to nab the luminaries in the lobby. Rita Hayworth is back from Spain. Anne Baxter is in from Australia. Gregory Peck is back from wherever. Sammy Davis Jr. will sing. Ed Pegley and little Patty Duke will help with the presenting . . . and that's only the beginning. In fact, according to costume designer, Edith Head, the Oscarcast is also the world's biggest fashion show "a must," she says for fashion-conscious women.

So, have you made up your mind if it's Albert Finney, Rex Harrison, Richard Harris, Paul Newman or Sidney Poitier for best actor? Do you choose Leslie Caron, Shirley MacLaine, Patricia Neal, Rachel Roberts or Natalie Wood for best actress? Your ABC station promises plenty of diversion while you wait to see if your candidates win.

DIZZY'S RECORD

Dizzy Dean, who is starting his 10th season as CBS play-by-play commentator was the last major league pitcher to win 30 games in one season (1934, for the St. Louis Cardinals).

INDOOR FOOTBALL

The Liberty Bowl, called the first major post-season football game to be played indoors, has been lined up by ABC.

Site for the December 19 event will be Convention Hall, Atlantic City, New Jersey.

Schlesinger To Comment

Arthur Schlesinger Jr., author-historian and an advisor to the late President Kennedy, is joining the distinguished news team ABC is assembling for its coverage of the national conventions.

Schlesinger will join Senators Hubert H. Humphrey and Sam J. Ervin Jr. for the Democratic convention beginning August 24.

As previously announced, Ex-President Dwight D. Eisenhower will be on the air consultant for ABC's coverage of the Republican national convention which opens July 13 in San Francisco.

APPEARS TALLER

Nancy Ames "That Was The Week That Was" girl, appears tall, is actually only five feet four and weighs 116 pounds.

Seems only yesterday since James Cagney's little sister Jeanne joined "Queen For A Day" as fashion expert? Or since the old "I Love Lucy" show heralded the birth of the fictional "Little Ricky" coincidentally with the birth of Lucy's own son, Desi Arnaz Jr. Well . . . time flies. "Only Yesterday" for both Jeanne and Lucy's baby was 11 years ago! Incidentally Desi Jr. and his 13-year-old sister got "extra" roles on the April 19 special their mamma is doing with Bob Hope. They'll portray autograph hunters.

MUSEUM TAKES OLD AQUEDUCT TO RIVER BANK

By BEN LAIME

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Old trains, an old plane and a bunch of old railroad cars will soon make their final trip — to the banks of the Mississippi River.

The move is planned to provide more room for the National Museum of Transport, reportedly the largest of its kind in the world. The museum was started in 1944 by a group of St. Louis hobbyists who were trying to find a spot to exhibit old locomotives and streetcars.

Today, the museum has outgrown the greatest expectations of its founders. In addition to its locomotives, the museum has an entire spectrum of transportation history.

NEED RIVER DISPLAY

Originally, the museum occupied five acres of land in St. Louis County. Now it has expanded to 65 acres but a navigable river is needed to put all its wares on display. It will move to the East St. Louis, Ill., side of the Mississippi River, roughly across from the 630-foot-high Gateway Arch, scheduled for completion sometime in 1965.

The museum is now located about 15 miles from downtown St. Louis. Here train buffs, antique and unusual car collectors, and almost anyone with an interest in seeing an old locomotive, a London taxicab or a Roman aqueduct can have an enjoyable time.

NEWEST ADDITION

The aqueduct is the museum's most recent addition. It was built by slaves of the Roman legions occupying France 1,900 years ago.

"The things that fascinate almost every visitor are the London cabs and the double-deck buses," Arthur K. Atkinson, chairman of the museum, said. "One of the taxi cabs," he said, "is a survivor of the London blitz of World War II." The cab pulled fire-fighting carts and hauled away many injured.

"New York City visitors become nostalgic when they spot the familiar Fifth Avenue double deck buses and the old car from the famous Brooklyn elevated."

MUSEUM CLASSES

Visitors are allowed to roam through the exhibit. And the museum maintains classes during the summer to teach visitors about the history of its relics. The museum has one of the country's most extensive col-

ISLAND WOMEN AID ECONOMY

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — Each morning Etta rises, dons her little white cloth cap and blue tunic and begins another day's work in a modern factory on this city's industrial estate. For this 36-year-old Negro mother of five, whose carpenter husband has been out of work for four months, the $18-a-week job sealing cartons of jelly is the difference between starvation and eating.

On this Caribbean island, manufacturing ranks next to domestic lections of books and other literature on the history of transportation.

One of the museum's prizes, a 1934 airplane built for Charles Lindbergh, is on loan from the Missouri Historical Society. The new location of the museum will be in the neighborhood of the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial Park in St. Louis. The location is intended to complement the polished-metal Gateway Arch and its underground display depicting the westward expansion of the United States. About 500,000 a-year are expected to tour the museum in its new location.

tic service as the largest employer of women, who are among the principal beneficiaries of Jamaica's policy of encouraging industrialization.

The same picture is evolving in other West Indian Islands, where efforts also are being made to foster establishment of factories as a boost to economic development.

Thus women are gaining political and economical strength in the West Indies.

Employed in factories, as gas-station attendants, as tourist guides, women are often the only bread-winners in large families.

"Industry has given a new status to our women," says a Jamaican manufacturer. "It is a liberating force."

West Indian governments pay tribute to the importance of women in politics by appointing increasing numbers to high office.

The housing minister of Trinidad is a woman. In British Guiana, where American-born Janet Jagan is Home Affairs Minister, a visitor can sit for hours listening with interest as an Indian housewife delivers a penetrating analysis of the current political scene.

But tradition dies hard and in Jamaica, especially among the poor, the woman continues to play a very special role in the family.
